Event charging FAQs

Juniors, children

a/ Junior squads: To support the success and growth of Scotland's junior athletes, we don't charge for national governing body sanctioned junior squad training sessions, although they still need to obtain permission and follow the same terms and conditions as any other event.

b/ School events: we don't charge, but the organiser must adhere to the same terms and conditions as any other organiser.

c/ Children's events: If there is significant input required from the FLS team, we may charge an admin fee to cover these costs, but generally, we don't charge for children's events.

d/ Adult participation in youth events: While there is no charge per participant for children's/junior events, FLS reserves the right to charge for any linked adult event (e.g. a 'fun run' or 'parent race' as part of a children's event), as per the rate card on the previous pages, depending on its impact.

e/ additional facilities and services: Charged as per the rate card on the previous page.

Cross-region events

If your event crosses FLS regional boundaries, our staff will confirm to you which region will take the lead in administering the event licence and communicating with the event organiser, ensuring all relevant parties in both/all regions are consulted and that it's on both/all regions' calendars. This will probably be the region hosting the largest proportion of the event.

A minimum of one extra week's notice will be required from the organiser, to ensure consultation across both/all regions can be done.

Events partly on FLS land

If permission is required for an event which is only partly on FLS land, the same level of consultation and support is needed as for an event which is wholly on our land. The support costs, therefore, remain the same to FLS.

If a part-event meets the criteria of an event which can simply be agreed under SOAC (and put in the regional calendar), it should be treated as such.

All events quoted at over £1150

A staged payment (non-refundable) of 10% of final cost may be invoiced when permit is issued, usually around 3 months pre-event.

Cancellation

Cancellation by the Organiser: FLS may charge a fee to cover all work already undertaken if less than 12 weeks' notice (major/large events), 4 weeks' notice (medium events) and 2 weeks' notice (small) are given and an alternative date is not agreed.

Cancellation by FLS: no permissions charge shall be paid by the Organiser unless cancellation has been due to failure by the Organiser to meet documentation submission timelines or to set up the event in accordance with the permission's terms and conditions, resulting in FLS potentially missing event revenue from another booking, or carrying out preparatory work for the cancelled event.

'Agreement' under Land Reform Act (Scotland) 2003 – your right of responsible access, rather than permission

Some smaller events, which have little or no impact on land management, other people's enjoyment, operations or the environment, may aim to operate in accordance with the Scottish Outdoor Access Code by acting responsibly and seeking agreement, but not permission, from FLS.

This is possible, when the organiser can demonstrate through their completed application that the above criteria do not apply, and FLS has checked that there is no clash with currently planned events or other activities at your chosen location/time. You will be notified that we have put the event in our calendar, but FLS will have no further involvement in facilitating your event. In this case, no permission will be issued, and no charge will be made.
